TO LET CONTRACTS FOR FIVE SCHOOLS

Hoke Smith school; October 3, on the Ormewood school; October 6, on the Frank L. Stanton school, and October 10 on the Davis Street school. All will be let, either in consolidated or single form, on October 11.

A committee of four was appointed to speed up the work of tabulating and compiling the bids. The dates and requirements will be adequately advertised to give every contractor desiring to submit a bid on an equal chance.

Appropriations for new buildings and additions totaling more than $440,000 were asked for under a number of resolutions introduced by the board Tuesday afternoon. Among these was a proposed $100,000 fund for a Commercial High school addition; $135,000 for the new Edgewood Avenue school; another $135,000 for the erection of a primary school on East Fair street, near the Whiteford avenue intersection; $50,000 for an addition to the John B. Gordon school.

Another project approved at Tuesday's meeting calls for the erection of a seven-room school in the southeastern quarter of the Grant Park section, asking $20,000 for the building. An appropriation of $10,000 had previously been approved for the purchase of the lot.

Removal of the old building from the former Girls' High school site to the Calhoun school was provided for in another resolution adopted, although the actual move was made last week, it was said.

Mr. Neely, in his answer to the board, stated that proposals by the latter, entailing subtraction from building funds for the purchase of lots would be more favorably considered by the commission if they simply let the original building allotments stand and asked additional bond money with which to buy the ground. In particular, this affects the Capitol View and Ormewood schools.

"A resolution from the board of education, authorizing $14,000 to build the Diamond colored school, was approved by the commission in August of 1926. In so far as we have been able to learn, nothing has been done about this school, either by the purchase of land or the drawing of specifications. Another $12,000 authorized for the Rockdale colored school has not been followed up by the board. Nothing was done about the $12,000 allocated to the Carrie Steele colored school until the bond committee's own delegation selected a site last July.

"The appropriations in Budget A amount to something over a million dollars, and we are assured that building contract prices incorporated therein will top the appropriations by 20 or 30 per cent.

"We cannot attack our problems with enthusiasm until we have some assurance as to how near the appropriations will approach actual costs. The bond commission refuses to put itself in the position of approving purchases without the wherewith to complete them."

The operating expense budget for the last quarter, totaling $938,361.36, was approved, bringing the anticipated cost of the forthcoming year to $2,781,271.27, as provided for under expenditures already endorsed.

Under a resolution adopted at the meeting, additional grounds at the I. N. Ragsdale school would be purchased along Avon avenue.

Virtual Ultimatum.

The Neely paper, an answer to searching criticisms aimed at the bond committee by the board, contains a virtual ultimatum to the effect that ward and budget division questions be made secondary to the advancement of imperative projects. "From now on," the communication says, "we are going to thrash out the meritorious proposals listed in 'Budget B,' or any that come to us from other sources, and as these matters are cleared up they will be finally passed on, but we assure all interested parties we are not going to proceed so fast that we do not know where our finances stand. We urge, therefore, that all bids on 'Budget A' be immediately secured so we can know if it is a million or a million and a half. These projects were passed by the bond commission 14 months ago, and we urge that they be cleared up at once."

Attention was directed to the incomplete matters provided for under Budget A, passed by the bond commission in July of 1926. Although Budget A was adopted 13 months ago no contracts have yet been let by the board of education for this million dollars worth of work or any portion of it.

Another high light of Tuesday's meeting was a tilt between Dr. Eubanks, chairman of the board, and Mr. Slate, chairman of the buildings and grounds committee, only the latter committee's action in striking two contested items from a $42,000 list of equipment, proposed for immediate purchase with bond money by the school administration.

After a heated debate in which Mr. Slate vigorously denounced an implication that his committee had sought to "play favorites," the list of purchases was approved as originally drawn by administration officers. The two clauses which the committee sought to strike, the largest amounts of the list, called for desks and plumbing equipment.

Will L. Hancock, chairman of the school contact committee of the bond commission, announced that his committee will hold a meeting in the next few days to pass on projects approved at the session Tuesday.

"We always have wanted to co-operate in any way possible with the board, and will continue to do so," Mr. Hancock said, "but we have had to protect what we considered the best interests of the city."

KOENNECKE ABANDONS FLIGHT OVER OCEAN

Berlin, September 13.—(AP)—Breaking a silence which he has maintained since the end of August, Lieutenant Otto Koennecke announced today—"I have definitely and finally given up the idea of a trans-Atlantic flight."

Lieutenant Koennecke, who had made all preparations for a trans-Atlantic flight, came to Berlin this morning, after having started from Cologne for Paris yesterday in a Lufthansa plane. He was compelled to turn back by stormy weather.

"This decision was reached over a week ago," he said, "but I refrained from making a public statement because I desired also to announce positively what I intended to do instead. I have now decided to start within a few days, reaching San Francisco by way of the north Pacific, if possible."

Koennecke promises to divulge further details of his eastern flight shortly before his departure.

WRECK OF OLD GLORY SALVAGED BY STEAMER

who accompanied Old Glory on this ill-fated endeavor. Therefore, we will continue the search, come what may. "A strong southeast wind is blowing and the sea is rough and foggy."

FINDING OF WRECKAGE RENEWS HOPE FOR MEN.

New York, September 13.—(AP)—Receipt of dispatches carrying first details of the finding of wreckage of the monoplane Old Glory tonight brought three women hopefulness that the crew of the plane would be found alive.

"I am more hopeful than ever," said Mrs. Lloyd Bertaud, wife of one of the plane's pilots, when told of the contents of the message. "From this message it appears that the greater part of the plane has been found but I am sure that when they came down in the water the pilots would have cut the engine off from the plane to get rid of the weight, if it were at all possible."

The latest message from the S. S. Kyle, received tonight by the Daily Mirror, said that 34 feet of wing containing three tank sections had been taken aboard the steamer.

"Mrs. Payne, Mr. Bertaud's mother, and I have taken new confidence that Payne, Hill and my husband will be found alive."

WRECKAGE ON ENGLISH COAST NOT IDENTIFIED.

Torquay, Devonshire, Eng., September 13.—(P)—The finding of the wreckage of an aeroplane on the seashore near here yesterday led to further extensive searches today by the coast guard and fishermen in the hope of discovering more wreckage which might bear marks which would lead to identification of the plane.

These efforts today were unsuccessful, and the mystery of the plane's identity remained unsolved.

LEVINE FLYING TO CONFERENCE.

London, September 13.—(P)—Charles A. Levine planned to take passage aboard an imperial airways plane for Cologne today to consult with German aviation experts concerning commercial aviation. After the conference he will return to London.

Captain Walter Hinchcliffe, engaged by Levine to pilot the Columbia on a projected "farthest east flight" was at Cranwell today preparing the Columbia for the trip which is scheduled for the end of this week.

BREMEN'S CREW IS SCATTERED.

Desau, Germany, September 13.—(P)—The crew of the airplane Bremen, which once assured unsuccessfully a trans-Atlantic flight, has scattered and there is practically no likelihood of their taking off for America. Although the pilots of the plane refuse to admit that their plans have been abandoned.

FRANCE NEUTRAL ON FONCK FLIGHT.

Paris, September 13.—(P)—The attitude of the French government toward the trans-Atlantic plans of Rene Fonck is a neutral one, the Associated Press was informed today at the general aeronautics and air transport headquarters.

No message from Fonck relative to the question of approval of his flight has been received either there or at the war or commerce ministries, it was said.

It was explained that the government's position is neutral because the Fonck attempt is private, because the French government is not acquainted with the results of his test flights and because his plane is not a French one. The government will neither encourage nor discourage the project.

It was said at aeronautics headquarters that no one in France could see any useful purpose at this season of the year, in crossing the Atlantic to the eastward, "a feat already accomplished five times but which remains perilous."

TEST FLIGHTS MADE BY FONCK'S PLANE.

Currier Field, N. Y., September 13.—(P)—Captain Rene Fonck, French ace, put his giant Sikorsky biplane, Ville de Paris, through a load test today, explaining to reporters that he was continuing with his plans to make a non-stop flight to Paris, pending a definite decision on the flight, which he expects to make in two or three days.

Fonck said he was not contemplating entering the non-stop race across the country in the air derby next week, as has been reported. In its load test flight today, the Ville de Paris carried 14,000 pounds. Fonck said the test was satisfactory.

WRECKAGE IS BELIEVED PART OF GOLDEN EAGLE.

San Francisco, September 13.—(P)—A piece of wreckage, painted a bright yellow, thought to have possibly been a part of the monoplane Golden Eagle, missing Honolulu flight contestant, was sighted in the Pacific ocean several hundred miles off Cape Flattery on September 1 by two members of the crew of the four-masted fishing schooner William H. Smith, Captain Gustav A. Schmidt, master of the vessel, today reported.

The schooner, which was four days out from the Aleutian Islands bound for San Francisco, was making about 10 knots an hour in a heavy sea, when Isaac Nielsen, at the steering wheel, and Mose Riley, on deck, sighted a piece of wreckage sticking about four feet out of the water. The seamen thought it a piece of driftwood, and made no attempt to pick it up.

The William H. Smith is not equipped with radio or wireless, and no one on board the vessel had any knowledge of a San Francisco-Honolulu airplane race. When Captain Schmidt came on board, the men reported what they had seen, but the vessel kept its course. The schooner is equipped with no power of any kind with the exception of sails.

homeless, and shipping suffered severely.

Seaports Suffer. Three of Mexico's greatest seaports—Guaymas, Salina Cruz and Manzanillo—are reported to have suffered heavy property loss, while two vessels of the National line, the Jalisco and the Navajao, are missing. Mazatlan, fourth important west coast port, also felt the lash of the storm but not so severely as the other towns.

The storm, described as one of the worst hurricanes in the history of West Mexico, headed up the coast from the Gulf of Tehuantepec, Oaxaca and swept northward as far as Guaymas, Sonora, within 200 miles of the American border. Territory several hundred miles inland was reported affected.

Loss of life and property, concerning which no exact information was available, is believed to have been the heaviest at Salina Cruz, in the state of Oaxaca. A dispatch relayed by Guaymas said that half of the Oaxaca city was swept away and that the damage was augmented by giant combers which crashed through the town. As the waves, estimated to have been 25 feet high, swept back into the ocean, wreckage from broken buildings was carried into the sea and swept up again.

Small Craft Missing.

Many small craft along the coast have not been accounted for and it is feared the loss of life at sea was heavy. Shipping has been halted. The storm extended from the very southernmost state of Oaxaca up to northern Sonora, sweeping over eight states. Reports coming by various routes reported severe damage at Yavaros, port of Sonora. Several causes, piers and the customs house were lost.

TYPHOON, TIDAL WAVE SPREAD RUIN IN JAPAN.

Tokio, September 13.—(AP)—A typhoon and tidal wave combined today to cause heavy loss of life and immense property damage on the Japanese island of Kishiu. More than 100 persons are believed to have perished in Kumamoto prefecture and a report, impossible of confirmation owing to disrupted communication, asserts that 1,000 others died in one town near the city of Kumamoto.

The storm, described as the most severe in decades, swept the prefectures of Kumamoto and Fukuoka with wind and wave, leaving death and desolation behind it. In Kumamoto prefecture 1,000 houses were inundated and destroyed, according to meager reports.

Towns Hit By Typhoon.

Nagasaki and near-by towns were struck by the typhoon, said dispatches from Osaka. Be' communication failed from Nagasaki many houses were reported to have collapsed and the streets were strewn with telegraph and telephone wires and toppled poles. Train service ceased. Other places near by reported similar conditions.

The region devastated was rich in rice growing, of which the city of Kumamoto was the center with a population estimated at 75,000. Efforts were made to restore communication. Nagasaki, whose population of 100,000 includes a large number of foreigners.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S RALLY TO BE HELD HERE ON DEC. 4

A young people's rally, to be featured by a pageant, will be held at the city auditorium on December 4, according to plans outlined Tuesday night at a meeting of religious leaders at Vaughn's tea room.

The pageant will consist of singing, acting and organ selections by Charles Sheldon, city organizer. Mrs. G. F. Zimmerman, head of the music department of the Atlanta Theological seminary, will have charge of the pageant.

Joel Hunter, superintendent of the St. Mark's Methodist Sunday school, was named chairman of the rally, and James Morton, of the church co-operation committee, was chosen chairman of the executive committee. The next meeting of the executive committee will be held on October 4 at the Central Y. M. C. A. Rehearsals will begin Sunday, September 18, and will continue until the date of the pageant under the supervision of Mrs. Zimmerman.

CAPT. LAUGHINGHOUSE DIES IN GREENVILLE

Greenville, N. C., September 13.—(P)—Captain J. J. Laughinghouse, 80, one of Pitt county's oldest pioneers, Confederate veteran and father of Dr. Charles O. H. Laughinghouse, state health officer at Raleigh, died at his home early tonight after an illness of several months.

He was former superintendent of state prisons and several times representative of his county in both branches of the state legislature. Said to hold the distinction of having been the youngest captain ever commissioned in the Confederate army, Captain Laughinghouse served with North Carolina regiments during the war between the states.

"I don't know a thing about furniture—but this proves it to me"

I was an oddly beautiful table of worm-eaten chestnut. The customer seemed to be particularly attracted by it. We had noticed him in the store four or five times previously, but he had made no purchases. "I don't know a thing about furniture," he said, holding the tag in his hand, "but this proves it to me. I saw this same table in another store in town today marked down from $50.00 in their special sale to $39.50. I know it is the same table because it has the same number from the same manufacturer."

Our table was priced at $33.12—our regular price carrying our regular percentage of profit.

Then he told us about his beautiful new home and how he wanted it furnished. He wanted the best values, appropriate pieces, fine rugs, and everything just right. But he wanted to turn over the whole job to someone who knew how to do it—someone in whom he could have absolute confidence.

Philibosian's furnished his home—furniture, rugs, draperies—everything down to the smallest detail. The price tag on the table of worm-eaten chestnut had established his confidence.

Naturally, our merchandise is always marked at rock-bottom prices for we never have a special sale, we sell strictly for cash and everything in our store is plainly marked at one price for everybody.

You can buy at Philibosian's any day in the year with absolute confidence that you are getting the lowest possible prices.

We want you to prove it for yourself. Come in and see our store and our merchandise. You won't find a thing "high-hat" or high-priced about Philibosian's.

But instead you'll find a human, friendly welcome from human, friendly folks who like to show you around whether you want to buy a thing or not. Then we'd like for you to compare qualities, values and prices, and see for yourself how much you can save at Philibosian's.

Pioneer Detroit - Miami Passenger Plane Leaves for Jacksonville

Air service de luxe is provided by the three-motored, all-metal Ford planes to be used in regular commercial service between Jacksonville and Miami on the south and Detroit on the north to be operated by way of Atlanta. The big plane visited Atlanta for three hours Tuesday bearing a party of officials of the Dixie and Northern Air service. In the upper picture are members of the party, left to right as follows: Carl H. Keller, Stanley E. Knauss, manager Stout Air service; W. V. Baker, Harry R. Graham, Alexander Imlay, Jesse C. Morris, C. B. Swinson, pilot; Howard Eskridge, city editor of the Nashville Banner; William C. Wakefield, president Stout Air service, and Peter Berger. In the lower picture is shown an interior view of the passenger compartment of the huge plane.

DIXIE PLANE MAKES QUICK FLORIDA HOP

ling like silver in the sunlight, marked lakes, and soon the golden thread of the Ocmulgee came into sight, winding around like a serpent.

Jackson, Ga., was sighted half an hour out of Atlanta, and the plane passed through a shower of rain. Looking eastward, the fliers beheld the spectacle of a circular rainbow instead of the customary arch. The rainbow followed the plane as long as the shower lasted. At Jackson we were 5,500 feet high and steadily mounting. At 3:05 o'clock, central time, we flew over Macon, following the course of the Ocmulgee, and noted a baseball game in progress at Central City park.

The plane was then 6,000 feet high, and at 3:30 rose to 6,800, when apples, tied to parachutes made of handkerchiefs, were dropped for the first time. The apples had been presented to the party in Atlanta by Henderson Hallman. Between Macon and McKee large clouds were encountered, the plane passing through like a ship in fog. At intervals scurrying clouds were seen below the ship, all white and fluffy. Visibility was poor throughout the trip, the horizon shrouded in various tinted cloud banks, though the surrounding territory could easily be seen. Pilot Swinson said that landmarks were few, but that with practice, the route could easily be plotted so that pilots would have no difficulty in finding their way. Emergency landing fields are plentiful along the route, he said.

Waycross Sighted. Waycross was sighted at 4:40 o'clock, and a few miles further on the plane circled a heavy rain storm, distant lightning playing upon the clouds in magnificent fashion. The Dixie highway was soon picked up and followed past the St. Marys river on to Jacksonville. The new landing field, still uncompleted, was sighted and circled several times. Then the plane went on once more to pick up Paxon field, soon sighting the beacons. The Dixie and Northern air line will be the first regular cabin-passenger service south of the Mason and Dixon line, and the first of any real length in the country, Mr. Wakefield said tonight. There are several short lines in the north at present, such as lines between Grand Rapids and Detroit, and Detroit and Cleveland, operated by the Stout Air service.

In this, the first real attempt in the country to establish a passenger schedule of any length, one plane will be operated on a round trip once a week until the business warrants additional planes, Mr. Wakefield said. The peace of mind and comfort of the passengers will be considered more than the deliberate schedule, and everything will be done to make the line absolutely safe.

The inaugural trip plane will not be used, but a newer and larger tri-motored ship will be put into service as soon as it is delivered. The plane will leave Detroit on Monday morning, arrive in Jacksonville the same evening. And make the return trip on Wednesday of each week. The fare will be $100 each, with a limit of ten passengers weighing not more than 185 pounds each. A smoking compartment, buffed cupboard, lavatory, writing desks, removable tables and upholstered revolving chairs will be furnished in the new plane, which is to be christened The City of Detroit. Other ships added later will be named after cities along the route. The purpose of the initial trip is to secure authentic information on the route, with regard to landing fields at the ports of call, emergency fields along the route, and similar information. Records are available.

The line will be a private carrier of passengers only, a de luxe service with all comforts and conveniences. All records of the Stout company with regard to information about the air routes are open to anyone in the air transportation business, it was said. "We are well satisfied with the route," Mr. Wakefield declared. "Our observations have revealed that the line chosen is safe enough, and that the landing fields are all good. Candler field is one of the best along the route."

There is no mystery about the air, for reports show that air transportation is 96 1-2 per cent efficient, a better mark than that made by the railroads. Airplanes are bound to succeed railroads for speedy transportation, for mountains and forests, deserts and lakes mean nothing to airships. Tuesday's trip in a "Bee" line from Atlanta to Jacksonville in such a few short hours revealed many things of interest. Showing more clearly the various types of land in north and south Georgia, and revealing how great has been the cutting of timber in this state. The only large forests sighted were those between Waycross and Jacksonville, practically all of the remainder of the route cutting only scattered clumps of trees to divide fields.

Among prominent persons who have ridden in this plane are Colonel Charles Lindbergh, Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh, Henry Ford, Edsel Ford and Commander Richard E. Byrd, according to a sign in the cabin. In order to canvass the possible business for the route, Mr. Wakefield addressed a thousand postcards to members of clubs and other persons regarding their possible desire to travel to and from Florida by airplane, and received back actual reservations for 30 per cent of the total capacity of one plane for the season from November to May.

Cost $40,000.

The Ford Stout all-metal tri-motored planes sell for $40,000, this sum not representing anything near the actual cost of the experiments in putting the craft into the air. The Ford plant can turn out a plane every three weeks. The machines carry three 220-horsepower Wright whirlwind motors, and have a maximum speed of 115 miles an hour, or a cruising speed of 98 miles an hour. The average speed maintained on the Atlanta-Jacksonville flight was between 80 and 95 miles an hour. Talk about the shortest route to Jacksonville, why Georgia roads wind around so that one must travel the actual air distance once again to make the trip by motor. And the railroad lines are almost as bad. A local plane will be maintained at Candler field at all times in order to taxi people in to meet the through plane, Mr. Wakefield said. The inaugural trip plane is 68 feet from wing tip to wing tip, and 48 feet long, weighs 5,200 pounds empty, and has a carrying capacity of a ton and a half of passengers, baggage and fuel, with a cruising range of five and one-half to six hours. Pilot Swinson, who is chief pilot of the Stout air service, has been flying for the past 11 years, and is one of the most expert aerial navigators in the country. Peter Berger, alternate pilot, has been flying for 10 years, and is originally from Galveston, Texas. He was a pilot on the New York to San Francisco tour of the National Geographic Magazine. Members of the party are: Mr. Wakefield, president of the Passenger Service company; Alexander Imlay, a director; Jesse C. Morris, of the Ford company; Roy C. Congar, secretary of the passenger company; Carl H. Kelley, of the Contractors Equipment company, Detroit; Harry R. Graham, retired Detroit capitalist; W. V. Baker, of the Detroit Sheet Metal company, and Pilot Swinson and Berger. Mr. Wakefield did not decide tonight whether or not the party will continue on to Miami, but will determine this matter in the morning.

Insurance Against Engine Repair

The first thing to do before making any extensive repairs or adjustments is to have the ignition checked and the spark plugs looked over.

Many times expensive repair bills are incurred and it is afterwards found that all that was needed was a new set of spark plugs. This is because spark plugs in time deteriorate and need to be renewed.

Lindbergh, Chamberlin, Byrd and other great fliers staked their lives on AC Spark Plugs in their epoch-making flights. You, too, can have the same spark plugs. See your dealer for the right type and size for your engine.—(adv.)

3 New Triumphs in 3 days for the STUDEBAKER COMMANDER

Three times within three days the superior performance of Studebaker cars has been demonstrated by spectacular and convincing achievements.

In every phase of motor car performance—speed—mountain climbing—endurance—The Studebaker Commander, listing at $1495, definitely out-performed all other cars selling for less than $2500.

Here is what The Commander has done since September first:

September 2nd, established a new transcontinental record—from New York Harbor to San Francisco Bay in 77 hours, 40 minutes. Ab Jenkins, a building contractor of Salt Lake City, made the record in a stock Commander 4-door Sedan, fully equipped!

September 5th, won first and second places in the great 75-mile Labor Day race for stock cars at Atlantic City Speedway—averaging 85.95 and 84.58 miles per hour, respectively! This race was under supervision of the American Automobile Association, open to all cars selling for less than $2000. Two Studebaker Commander Roadsters finished first and second, with a Chrysler "72" third. Other entrants were Buick Master Six, Nash Advanced Six, Hudson Super Six, Chrysler "70" and Star Six.

September 5th, second in Pikes Peak climb to top of world's highest motor road—only 48 seconds behind a Stutz listing at three times The Commander price. This stock car race was also under American Automobile Association supervision.

Such facts as these are stubborn things which cannot be explained away by mere unsubstantiated claims of performance. No wonder The Commander is known as "the greatest achievement of post-war automotive engineering" and is outselling the combined totals of all other cars in the world of equal rated horsepower.

FARMERS OF WEST HELPED BY HEAT

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution.)

Chicago, Ill., September 13.—With the temperature running up to 95 in Chicago today, the hottest September day in the history of Chicago, and four deaths as a result, weather forecasters grimly announced there would be at least three more days of sweltering heat.

Other cities in the middle west reported temperatures as high as 100, while some points in northwestern Canada reported a light snowfall. However, down in the Loos where thousands had hastily dug out Palm Beach clothing, stored away three weeks ago, men mopped their perspiring faces and smiled. In this, the center of the corn belt, it is realized that this weather is making the corn crop, averting very serious financial troubles all over the district and securing prosperity for all.

Bankers and railroad executives are rejoicing over the protracted dry, hot weather. It means, on the one hand, the lifting of mortgages and greatly increasing the buying power of the farmers, and, for the railroads, greatly increased tonnage, moving the crops and hauling back merchandise.

So the middle west smiles and goes merrily on its sweltering way. Lemons and limes doubled in popularity and prices in the last two days. A carload of limes today brought $6,100, representing $15 and $16 a box wholesale, instead of the normal $7 and $8.50. Dealers in straw hats, about to feed their leftover stock to the cows, perked up and did an unusual business. Automobile dealers, bristling up their displays, for a big corn crop means the jolly old farmer will be in the market this fall.

This hot forcing weather has changed the attitude of the corn traders and upset all calculations for higher prices. In the face of these conditions, however, corn specialists on the Chicago Board of Trade point to the declines of 24 3/4 to 28 cents within the last few weeks, as figured from the top price on the recent advance and say the size of the corn crop depends upon weather conditions for the next three weeks or more, and that the crop is not made yet.

A rush to sell at the opening today, carried prices off 5 to 5 1/2 cents from the close on Monday, with September down to 90 1/2 cents and December to 92 1/4 cents.

Kentuckian Sees Tourist Influx Into Georgia

Athens, Ga., September 13.—(Special.)—Dudley H. Taylor, editor of the Kentucky New Era, Hopkinsville, Ky., and a recent graduate of the University of Georgia, who is visiting in Athens, states that a north-to-south tourist route is being completed from the middle west to Florida, through Kentucky, Tennessee and Georgia.

When two or three projects in Kentucky and two in Tennessee are completed and Georgia finishes her program in the northwestern part of the state, there will be opened the flood gates of a tourist travel through the state of Georgia which will have most favorable results, Mr. Taylor stated. A tourist can leave Chicago now and swing southward toward Florida with the assurance that he can make good time until he strikes the dirt road in Georgia at Chickamauga Park. Parts of that route now under construction are in rather poor condition, Mr. Taylor said. The severest criticism heard from tourists passing through Georgia on to the north is that the road construction in this state is "like a crazy quilt." Mr. Taylor declared. They find, he said, beautiful stretches of roads leading out from various county seats and open up their cars with the expectation of making time but find to their dismay that they strike dirt roads again, only a few miles from the town.

SEABOARD EXTENDS AUTOMATIC SIGNALS

Work for some time has been actively under way in the installation of "color light" automatic electric signals on the Seaboard Air Line railroad between Starks and Coleman, Fla. The preliminary details have been disposed of and the construction forces are making splendid headway. The distance between the two points is approximately 90 miles, and the same general type of signals are being used as in previous installations. The work is being hastened and it is the intent to have this new stretch of signals in operation by the latter part of the year. With the completion of this installation the Seaboard system will have nearly 500 miles of "signals that think."

Salvation Army Rescues Spurned Straw Headgear

The first load of old straw hats, contributed to the Salvation Army social service department in anticipation of "felt hat day" Thursday, is inspected by Cadet Ethel Ladlow and Ensign Ada Trembath after being reconditioned in the army's hat shop.

Brown down old straw hats and broken down old men are being worked together in the Salvation Army's social service department as "felt hat day," September 15, approaches, with the result that the old hats are turned out with another season of usefulness in them and the old men with a new trade and a few more years' self-supporting independence.

Straw hats, in all conditions of disrepair, are being sent this week to the social service department at 345 Luckie street, or are being called for on telephone notice to Ivy 2224, as the date approaches when summertime skydives will become entirely de trop in the best circles.

The hats are repaired and reconditioned in the hat shop by old men who have appealed to the army for work as a last chance to save themselves from beggary. Next spring they will be sold at nominal prices to others, not quite so poor in the army's secondhand stores for enough to reimburse the department for the support of the old men while they learned their new trade.

Old furniture, old clothing, old shoes, and all manner of wornout material are reconditioned by others in the department. The army collects practically all the material it gets six months in advance of the time it can be disposed of, according to Staff Captain W. H. Range, commander of the department. The greatest need of the department at present is for small stoves, overcoats and heavy clothing.

ALABAMA EXPECTS LASH INDICTMENTS BEFORE WEEK-END

Birmingham, Ala., September 13.—(AP)—Indictments of masked men who participated in floggings in Jefferson county are expected to be returned by a special grand jury before the end of the week, Attorney General Charlie C. McCall, of Alabama, who is assisting Solicitor James Davis in presenting evidence to the jury, said today.

In addition to the inquiry into the floggings of Arthur Hitt, negro; Dan Mitchell, Eston Murchison and several other unidentified persons, the grand jury is investigating alleged efforts to intimidate witnesses and threats said to have been made to Solicitor Davis for his part in gathering evidence against the floggers.

Attorney General McCall and Assistant Attorney General Haynes, turned to Birmingham this morning when the grand jury resumed its work after a recess since Friday.

Peachtree Gardens, north side supper club, which recently enjoyed a popular run, but which has been closed for some weeks, will be reopened on September 29 under management of Associated Cabarets, Inc., a Delaware company.

Mr. Barrow added that the resort will be conducted on a considerably lower price scale and that patrons will be served in their cars if they do not wish to enter.

"Blue" Steele's Minstrels will furnish orchestra music, coming here from Florida, where the organization is widely known through its connection with a number of exclusive hotels and night clubs.

Another Hot Day Promised For Wednesday

Striking within one degree of the highest point reached this summer and setting the record for the month before crawling back to lower regions of the thermometer with the descent of the sun Tuesday, the mercury column is scheduled to repeat its feat today.

This is the meteorological procedure set forth in today's weather forecast calling for continued heat, accompanied by clear, fair skies for Atlanta and all portions of Georgia, according to C. F. von Herrmann, in charge of the local governmental station.

For the fifth time this month the temperature indicator will cross the 91-degree level in its diurnal fluctuations from 72 to 94 degrees, the maximum and minimum limits predicted for today, which are the same as those registered on the thermometer Tuesday, the weather man said.

Atlantans who called the early portion of this month hot, accompanied by familiar expletives, have had their opinion given official sanction by Mr. von Herrmann, who labeled September as "unusually hot" with the average temperature to date 5 degrees above normal for the month in Atlanta. However, the same type of weather is being experienced throughout the United States, was the consolation offered by the weather man. No records have been broken by the maximum of 93 degrees or the high average temperature, September, 1925, having secured all honors with temperatures ranging over the 100-degree mark for five days.

HUSBAND DEMANDS ALIMONY PAYMENT AND LAWYER'S FEE

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Los Angeles, Calif., September 13.—Citing a clause of the new California divorce law, Kenneth Gulick McClurg, scion of a New York family, today filed a petition demanding alimony and attorney's fees from Lillian Sanford McClurg.

McClurg's papers ask that his wife be made to supply him with $500 a month allowance, $500 costs and $5,000 attorney's fees. The suit alleges the wife is heirless to a $500,000 estate besides considerable wealth in her own name. In previous cross bills, McClurg asserted that his marriage was preceded by a compact under which the former Lillian Sanford was to relieve him of the need of supporting her, and that his wife was to contribute funds to run their domestic affairs.

As his part of the bargain McClurg asserts, he was to win his wife a place in New York high society. September as "unusually hot" with forced him to do cooking and wash clothes and that his mother-in-law once felled him with a club.

A. A. C., Daytona Beach Tank Teams Clash Here Today

Leading Stars Seek Honors At East Lake

Meet Will Get Under Way at 3:30 This Afternoon.

When the sun sinks across East Lake tonight there will no longer be any question as to the respective merits of the Atlanta Athletic club and Daytona Beach swimming teams, for today they clash in the first inter-sectional meet held in Atlanta in many years. The teams will compete for the magnificent J. B. Cleveland trophy.

The meet is to begin at 3:30 and the public is invited to attend. There will be a schedule of swimming and diving events lasting until after 5 o'clock and the most sanguine backer of the A. A. C. is looking for nothing less than an epic battle for the champions of the Southeastern A. A. U.

For three straight years the natators of the Daytona Beach team have been champions of the Florida A. A. U. and the A. A. C. team has been swimming and diving to victory for many years in the southeastern. What would be more natural than a contest to decide just which champion is the real champion of Dixie.

The Palmetto state team is bringing a team of record-breakers with them and they are coming with the avowed intention of placing the names of "Red" Holliman and his teammates in the background of southern water sports.

Naturally Red and his cohorts believe that their place is at the front of the stage and it will take a bit of swimming as is swimming to shove them back.

Among the stars who will be seen in action against the A. A. C. team today are Captain K. Sutherland, who holds five free style and back stroke records of Florida; Baird Rogers, breast stroke champion of Florida, and E. Poe, low and high board champion of 1927.

The dual meet will really be a test of comparative strength between the two sections and may lead to further encounters for the winter with representative teams from other sections.

CRAX PLAY 22D INFANTRY NINE SUNDAY

Following the usual custom that has existed for several years, the Atlanta Crackers and the 22d Infantry will clash at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the fort.

In all probability either Ray Francis or Tom Rogers will do the hurling for the Spiller forces, while Lewis, star slab artist for the soldiers, will oppose the Crackers.

Besides the ball game, which will be a big enough treat in itself, there will be other features to enliven the occasion, chief among them being a spirited 100-yard dash between those two Cracker speed demons, Bert Niehoff and Frank Kolb. This race will decide a speed question that has occasioned considerable speculation during the past season.

The 22d Infantry team has a very imposing record up to date, having won seven out of nine games since its return from summer camp.

Sam Glassman and Joe Tingley, two well-known umpires, will officiate.

Young Lewis Wins.

St. Petersburg, Fla., September 13. (AP)—Young Lewis, Tampa featherweight, pounded Mike Lofley hard tonight to win a ten-round decision in the main bout on the American Legion fight card. Lofley, who also is from Tampa weighed 133 and Lewis 137.

SEEK SWIMMING HONORS

Above is the Daytona Beach swimming team which will clash with the crack Atlanta Athletic club aquatic stars this afternoon at East Lake in an inter-sectional water meet for the J. B. Cleveland trophy. The three youngsters in the front row, from left to right, J. Harter, E. Bidden and R. Burghman. Reading from left to right in the center is Dave Morris, H. Snowden, K. Sutherland (captain), T. Earnhardt and E. Poe, holder of several titles. In the back row is C. Earnhardt, H. Carrodi, Hy Hyatt, Baird Rogers and Tony Carroll.

Near Scrimmage Held By Tech Candidates

Jackets Put Through Long Drill at Flats — Fincher Pleased With Showing of Line.

BY BEN COTHMAN.

They almost had a scrimmage at Grant field Tuesday afternoon. Hot as it was, hotter than any day the month has yet produced. Coach Alex divided his squad into teams, and for 10 minutes or so had the boys charging through, going down under punts and tackling receivers of the boots.

Outside of this brief interval, practice ran along in the same old routine. The squad attended another lecture in one of the classrooms and took the field at about 4 o'clock.

Came first the regular round of calisthenics. After that Bill Fincher got hold of his linemen, while the backs and ends gathered at the other end of the field for a get-together all their own.

The backs toiled long and mightily at taking out interfering ends and blocking tackles, ends or backfield men in this case acting as tacklers and made a fairly good job of it.

It was the first time that the ends and backs held worked together this season and there were flashes of good work on both sides during this part of the practice.

Fincher Likes Line. Bill Fincher continued his heavy work of Monday afternoon and for a time had his linemen sweating profusely while they charged through innumerable imaginary linemen and gave three tackling dummies plenty of what the late Mr. Sherman called war. Bill likes his line prospects more and more every day, and when Bill likes anyone or anything it must be good. Therefore it's safe to say that Tech will have a good line this year.

Following the pseudo-scrimmage, the teams tried running of several new plays and ended up with a lengthy signal drill.

While the varsity was sweating away out on the field Kid Clay and Mack Tharpe, freshman coach and assistant freshman coach, respectively, were sitting in Kid's office preparing for an onslaught of freshmen gridders which begins Thursday. The two plan

HAWK-EYE-ING SPORTS

BY DICK HAWKINS.

Pests and Freshmen.

There are insectivorous pests and various other common pests but the greatest pest of them all is the freshmen. If you have any doubt of this fact ask Kid Clay, the "little Napoleon" of Dixie diamonds and coach of the Tech gridiron rats.

"Do you know anything about what kind of a rat squad you'll have this year?" your correspondent asked Kid.

"None," he replied as he reached over in the corner and picked up a beautifully shaped paddle of the type that is used for plastic operations on the rear elevations of first year students in almost any college.

"None," Kid repeated, "and if I did know I wouldn't tell you newspaper guys anything about 'em. Why you take 15 minutes to write about what wonderful rats we have out here and it takes me just two months to beat the idea out of their heads."

About that time Mack Tharpe, who will help Kid Clay with the rats this year suggested that the Kid might have an easier job of beating ideas out of rat heads if he would beat a bit nearer that section. But the Kid, being a diplomat, likes the devious way of accomplishment.

After considerable questioning and many rebuffs which would have sent anyone but a newspaper man on his way, we discovered that Kid Clay and Mack Tharpe will have more than their capable hands full with the squad this season.

This year the coaches will use the paddle on from 80 to 90 freshmen through the season this year. Having a capable assistant in the person of Mack Tharpe, Kid will be able to swell the permanent squad from 50-odd to more than 80 this year.

And the handling of more than 80 of "these pests" will be a job to tax the nerves of any two coaches in the land.

Band Scrimmages.

Frank "Wop" Roman is practicing signals for the opening scrimmage of the Tech band.

Almost any afternoon "Wop" may be seen standing on a chair in the gymnasium yelling "um-pah, um-pah, one, two, three, four, hike" and stroking his chin in contemplation of that first scrimmage of the band.

"Are you going to have a good bunch of 'letter men' back?" Wop was asked. "I donno but I have a lotta scrubs," was the reply. And it was plain to see that "Wop" was anticipating the job of making a full-back tuba player out of a pony piccolo artist.

Failure to Slide Costs Moore $200

Pittsburgh, September 12.—(P)—The failure of Eddie Moore, Boston Braves infielder, to slide into home plate in the ninth inning of the second game of today's double header with Pittsburgh has cost him a $200 fine. Manager Dave Bancroft announced tonight.

Moore, pinch-hitting, had doubled to score the Braves' fourth run. With two out and only one run needed to tie the score, Bancroft singled into center field. Moore, trying to score from second base, went into home plate standing up and L. Warner's accurate throw cut him down, retiring the side and ending the game.

Kiwanians Stage Beauty Contest For Guest Clubs

More than 500 Kiwanians and their friends, members of the 18 clubs comprising the north Georgia district of Kiwanis International, were guests of the Atlanta Kiwanis club Tuesday night, at the East Lake Country club.

One of the most elaborate entertainment programs ever offered by a group of civic organizations was staged through the combined efforts of the 18 clubs. An outstanding feature of the program was presented by the Atlanta club in the form of a bathing beauty promenade and contest. Seldom in the history of public entertainment have there been assembled maidens of such qualities. The contestants were Fred Cook, Jr., Russell Bridges, Gerald M. Goodman, Ward Fitzpatrick, Floyd Jennings, Everett G. Millican and James C. Kennedy, all prominent Atlantians who donated the garb of the surf and guise of the sybil.

Principal speakers for the occasion included Robert H. Jones, Jr., who delivered the welcoming address; Henry C. Heinz, president of Kiwanis International; Arthur L. Brooke, district governor Kiwanis International, and Emmett W. Williams, of Monroe, lieutenant governor of the north Georgia district.

Music for the occasion was furnished by Enrico Leide's orchestra. John L. Westmoreland, president of the Atlanta Kiwanis club, presided.

American Influence Serves To Change Club Women's Lives

BY LAMAR SPARKS.

"American influence is changing the lives of women in Cuba." This came from a charming Cuban woman at the Biltmore hotel—one whose vermilion gown of Oriental brilliance proclaimed her as one who accepts without question the theory that a woman's mission, although there are doubtless many, is primarily to be beautiful.

In response to a question in English, which she understands, she spoke of the influence of American women at the Biltmore hotel—one whose vermilion gown of Oriental brilliance proclaimed her as one who accepts without question the theory that a woman's mission, although there are doubtless many, is primarily to be beautiful.

"The home life of Cuba is ideal," she smiled as she spoke of children and home, never losing in her enthusiasm a dignity which was intensified by the witchery of dark lashes over blue-gray eyes, a flower-like frailness offset by long pearl earrings and the suggestion of a mystifying pungent perfume. "The Cubans are considered the best mothers in all the world."

"But the number of women in industry is steadily increasing. The time was when a Cuban family considered it a tragedy if circumstances necessitated a woman's performing tasks other than the customary duties of the home. Now, however, there is a noticeable increase of those who are finding a place elsewhere. In a ten cent store of a well-known American chain of stores, recently opened in Cuba, women are being allowed to work as clerks, an unprecedented privilege in this country where all

MINERS' PEACE PLAN REJECTED

Chicago, September 13.—(AP)—Illinois coal operators, meeting today, turned down a peace proposal offered by miners' representatives yesterday and sent a committee of two back to confer with the miners' committee. The operators, however, submitted no counter proposal and said the mines tie-up was no nearer solution than a week ago.

Terms of the rejected proposal were not made public but it was reported yesterday that the miners asked the operators to agree to appointment of a commission of two union and two operator representatives, to thresh out the entire controversy, reporting not later than February 1, the miners returning to work in the meantime under terms of the Jacksonville agreement.

A committee of nine considered the miners' proposition and submitted a report to the full committee of operators today. The operators, thereupon referred the entire negotiation to its subscale committee of two, George Harrington and H. C. Perry, with instructions to confer again with the miners' subscale committee composed of Harry Fishwick and Walter Nesbit.

If the subscale committees, after meeting again, are unable to find any new basis for negotiations it was indicated today that the conference here would break up with the situation no nearer solution than it was when the miners stopped work last April 1. If some new plan of settlement is found, the subscale committees will make reports immediately to both bodies.

For Grouchy Husbands

What an old bear he is when he comes home from work in the evening! Of course he's been working hard all day, and the trip home has probably been trying—but then, you're cheerful and pleasant. You don't realize, perhaps, that it was that cup of RIDGWAYS TEA you stopped for at five o'clock that makes the difference between your temper and his. You don't see any excuse for his biting your head off and growling.

Well, then, tomorrow suppose you try this simple remedy for grouchy husbands that other wives have found works just like a charm. Tomorrow night when he comes home, offer him a freshly brewed cup of RIDGWAYS TEA. Give it to him just as he likes it—with sugar and cream or lemon. He'll probably say he doesn't want it at first. He'll growl just as usual. But as soon as that delicious, stimulating flavor reaches him, he'll change his mind. Two minutes later he'll be a different man. He'll feel warmed and soothed inside. His worries will somehow melt away. He'll feel revived, refreshed, comforted—even cheerful. In another minute he'll beam at you and be his own sweet self again.

Any one of the three perfect blends of RIDGWAYS TEA can do this. Their wonderful flavor and refreshing goodness have saved many a man's temper and many a woman's disposition!

THE GUMPS—WHILE THE CITY SLEEPS

They Wouldn't Believe
By Roy Vickers

On the way to Donald Briery's house for luncheon Connie Elmore, Donald's fiancée, tells her friend Olive Weston that Donald stands a chance of inheriting a half a million from the estate of old Harrowby, a friend of Donald's father.

SYNOPSIS.
Olive and Connie share a flat in London. Olive is secretly in love with Donald but sincerely pleased at Connie's good fortune in winning him. Sandle and Querk, solicitors handling the Harrowby estate, are crooked and plot to cheat Donald Briery of the fortune by having a spurious heir appear whose claim is prior to Donald's. In the midst of the plotting, Augustus Briery, Donald's father, presumed to have died in the Titanic sank, calls on Sandle. Querk suggests to Sandle that he invite Briery to Harrowby house and there, with the assistance of Querk's clerk Wade, dispose of Briery.

Connie decides to visit her old nurse, who is now caretaker of Harrowby house. Mrs. Jones is out but Connie finds the key and lets herself in to wait for her. She hears strange noises in the library and going to investigate she sees Mr. Sandle and another man kill Mr. Briery, whom she recognizes from his portrait. Rushing out of the house Connie stumbles into Querk. While telling her story Querk pushes the bell and sends a signal to the murderer. Connie sees a policeman and calling him the three proceed to the library and Connie asks Querk to open the secret panel in the wall where she had seen the man place the body. It is empty. Querk accompanies her to the police station, where she tells her story to the police superintendent. Querk intimates that she imagined the scene and in exasperation Connie goes to see Olive, who believes her story. Querk requests Sandle to come to the superintendent's office and he presents him with a will which the police officer accepts. The two lawyers proceed to Wade's office where old man Tule and his son, the spurious heir, await them. The old man dies just after they walk in and Sandle and Querk leave by the back door.

The next morning Connie calls on Querk and meets young Jones in his office. She recognizes him as her old nurse's son, but does not know that he has been posing as Henry Tule, Jr.

INSTALLMENT XXVII.
AN UNFAIR GRUDGE
The question that disturbed Olive most was what should be done. People in good health were not subject to hallucinations. Unsuspected by either of them, Connie must have suffered some form of nervous exhaustion. That was a matter for a doctor. She went to the telephone and rang up Donald.

"Connie has gone out for a walk now," she told him. "I don't fancy she had much sleep. You had better look in this afternoon as arranged."

Donald agreed and asked a nurse her of questions to which she could find no answer. It was easier to believe—and affirm—that Connie had just gone for a walk.

Abandoning any hope of work for the day, Olive bathed and dressed leisurely, putting on instead of her severe coat and skirt, a brown linen frock which Connie had trimmed with clever touches of red and blue. She looked well in it and was pleasantly aware of the fact; but as she vigorously brushed and parted her thick bobbed hair, she was aware also that had Donald not been coming to the flat that afternoon, it would be of no importance whether brown touched with red and blue became her or not.

"Food! Fiddle! Fiddle!" she said to her reflection in the glass, and deliberately disarranging her hair, turned away. Connie, before going out, had given the daily charwoman her orders and performed scrupulously her own domestic duties. So that Olive could find nothing to do during that long morning. She tried to read and could not, went out to do some shopping and returned to find the flat still empty. It was a few minutes before one when Connie came back.

"Hello! I was just going to start lunch alone," said Olive offhandedly, taking in at a glance the pallor and the heavy eyes and the listlessness.

Connie could not immediately answer. There had fallen upon her a numb indifference to the world about her. She had been roused a little in her chat with Nurse but the diversion had been only for a moment and she had a few things to see to," she answered. She did not wish to tell Olive where she had been, for that would involve a fresh discussion of the subject that had become a nightmare to her. Olive, like Donald, believed the whole thing to be a fantastic invention. Olive, therefore, was out of it.

Still, it was not fair to bear a grudge against Olive. Connie reproached herself, as she sat down to lunch and made absent replies to Olive's chatter, that she had been bearing a distinct grudge against Olive. She put out her hand suddenly and laid it on Olive's brown one.

"Dear, I am sorry if I was a beast last night," she said. "No ill feeling," said Olive, catching her fingers in an affectionate pressure. "You were a bit exasperated and I don't wonder."

Silence, while Connie struggled with the tears that for the last twenty-four hours had been perpetually weakening her dignity. She fought them back now by wondering whether she should tell Olive about Nurse's son. If she did, she would have to tell Olive also about the visit to Querk's office. Nurse and her son after all, were of no interest to Olive, who had never known either of them.

"Donald is going to look in this afternoon," volunteered Olive, breaking in on her reflection.

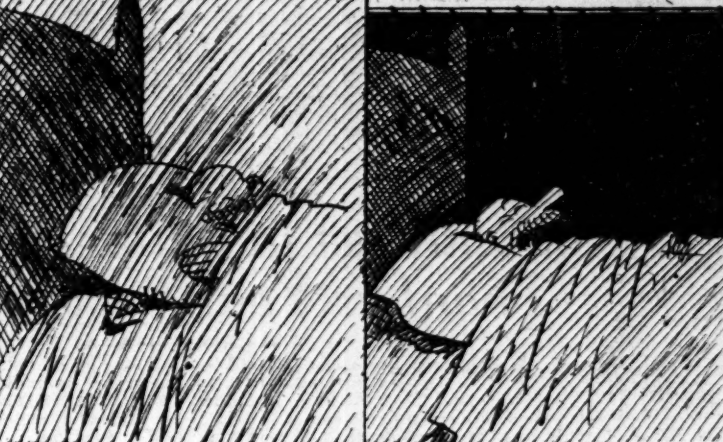

The information jarred on Connie. She did not want to see Donald just then. If she had been hearing an unfair grudge against her friend, had she not been equally unfair to her lover? No, surely she had been justified there in her bitter disillusion.

STEAMSHIP PLANE SERVICE PLANNED

New York, September 13.—(P)—The New York Herald-Tribune says that plans are nearly completed to launch an all-American combination steamship-airplane service on the north Atlantic to provide daily express service between Montauk Point, Long Island, Plymouth, England, and Havre, France, with fast ocean liners that will make the crossing in four days.

The group reported back of this shipping scheme includes Laurence R. Wilder, former president of the American Brown-Boveri company and now chairman of the advisory committee of the company's shipbuilding division; E. R. Walker, president of the American Steamship Owners corporation, and former head of the Old Dominion Line; Ernest H. Riggs, naval architect for the New York Ship building company of Camden, N. J., and Theodore E. Ferris, New York naval architect.

The proposed line is to be incorporated as the New York, London, Paris Steamship company, and will operate a fleet of ten 20,000-ton liners. The ships, which will resemble United States naval destroyers, will be twice their size, will be driven at an average speed of 31-32 knots, but will be about 800 feet long, 100 feet beam and a draft of 24 feet, 9 inches. Their resemblance to naval vessels will be extended by the airplane platform on the upper deck, which will accommodate several lighting planes.
